Therapists Creating a Cultural Tapestry: Using the Creative Therapies Across Cultures Stephanie L. Brooke

This exciting text is a comprehensive work that examines the use of art, play, music, dance/movement, and drama in different cultures and with diverse client populations. The editors' primary purpose is to explore how the creative therapies can be implemented in diverse cultures and in different countries. Renowned, well-credentialed, and professional creative arts therapists in the areas of art, play, music, dance/movement, and drama helped write this collection. Examples include the use of art in working with refugee children in Australia and with Chinese-American children; shared experiences in using dance and movement with Arabic women in Jerusalem, indigenous Inner Mongolia, and with survivors of torture. Other chapters offer stories of using drama in the Netherlands, music and other creative arts in China, play therapy in Appalachia and with different races. Additionally, there are chapters on working with children with learning disabilities as well as the use of creative arts in supervision. Some of the chapters are beautifully complimented with photographs of client works of art or play. The text provides a rich tapestry on how the creative therapies can be used across cultures for issues such as depression and trauma to name a few. Of special interest are the chapters on supervision. Not only a tool for creative art therapists, this informative book will be of special interest to educators, students, therapists, as well as people working in other parts of the world or with culturally diverse clients.

Jennifer Witherspoon:

As a pupil exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library in order to make summary for some reserve, they are complained. Just minor students that has reading's internal or real their interest. They just do what the trainer want, like asked to go to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading very seriously. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring along with can't see colorful pics on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we wish. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Therapists Creating a Cultural Tapestry: Using the Creative Therapies Across Cultures can make you feel more interested to read.
